It has come to the attention of the Arizona State Retirement System that some members, particularly employees from the State of Arizona, have been receiving unsolicited calls from private investment counselors insinuating they are working with the state retirement fund and offering to assist with their personal financial planning.

Please be advised that the ASRS is not affiliated with any such organizations and is not responsible for these private solicitations. Further, the ASRS strongly cautions all members and retirees about providing personal information to persons or organizations that you do not know and trust.

When making decisions about your retirement, particularly about your ASRS pension benefits, the ASRS encourages members to speak with an ASRS Benefit Advisor or attend an ASRS retirement planning meeting, as well as discussing your plans with a trusted financial planner or financial institution and/or your tax advisor.

- Please be aware that the ASRS does not contact members by phone or email to review your plan or offer financial advice. The ASRS also does not meet privately with members, except for specific appointments at ASRS offices in Phoenix or Tucson.

The ASRS does not solicit from member's personal information by phone or email. Any official information from the ASRS is communicated to members through ASRS newsletters or individual correspondence sent through the mail.

Also, the ASRS does not make available mailing lists or member information to private organizations.
